Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: What's cooking?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to cook for your friends?
Your family?
- What is your favorite dish?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about rooms and objects in them.
- I can use and pronounce the long vowel sounds.
- I can identify key information in a short audio.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is making dinner for her friends. What's she cooking?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: You guys are in for a real treat tonight!
Peter: That's right! We have a chef in the house. It smells fantastic in the kitchen.
Sally: Vanessa, what are you making?
Vanessa: I'd thought we would start with some baked brie cheese and apple slices.
Peter: That sounds delicious! It's nice to have great dinner after a long day at work.
Vanessa: Then, you will be served lamb shanks with roasted vegetables. It's a specialty at work.
Sally: I can't wait! Peter, can you help me set the table? The napkins are in the buffet drawer.
Peter: Alright. Would you ladies like a drink?
Vanessa: Sure, I'd love a soft drink.
Sally: Me too, thanks. There's some in the fridge.
Peter: Remember, I bought that cheesecake for dessert.
Vanessa: Hey Sal, Boston Nights is on later tonight. The last episode was such a cliffhanger ... I can't wait!
Sally: Oh, Jake, the police officer is still in the hospital.
Peter: You two love that show! How about I join you?

Let's Practice!

Time to make comparisons. Let's review the long vowels a, e, i, o, u.

Learning Points

Review - Long Vowel Sounds

There are rules for the long vowel sound.

	Explanation	Example
Rule 1	When a word has two vowels, usually you pronounce the name of the first vowel and the second vowel is silent. Exceptions: could, country	cheese treat fruit roast
Rule 2	If a vowel is followed by w or y , you usually say the vowel with a long vowel sound .	show brown pay blew
Rule 3	If a word has one vowel and it comes at the end of the word, you usually use a long vowel sound .	he me go try
Rule 4	If a word has a vowel and a consonant that is followed by e , the e is usually silent. However, it makes the vowel before it long . Exceptions: gone, have, live, come	plane bone bake
